A Piece of Old Main History

For generations, Mayville State students, alumni, faculty, staff, and friends, Old Main has been more than a building. It has been the heart of campus, a place where memories were made, traditions were born, and lifelong connections began. This original newel post stood on the landing of the grand central stairway in historic Old Main, quietly witnessing decades of student life. Countless footsteps passed by as students hurried to class, celebrated achievements, forged friendships, and pursued their dreams within the walls of the building. Carefully preserved during the renovation of Old Main, this unique piece offers a rare opportunity to own an authentic architectural artifact from one of Mayville State's most cherished landmarks. Whether displayed as a striking standalone piece or repurposed as a distinctive plant stand, it serves as a meaningful reminder of the generations who have called Mayville State home. Bid high on this conversation piece, keepsake, and tangible connection to the history, traditions, and spirit of Mayville State University.
